Carbon Farming, New technologies and the status of carbon credits thus far.

How to get there!

Soil is more than dirt—it's the foundation of life. And right now, it's under threat from overuse, erosion, and climate change. Through carbon farming, we can turn soil into a powerful climate solution.

Save the Soil: Carbon Africa 2025 is a conference aimed at protecting and rebuilding our soils through practices that pull carbon from the atmosphere and store it in the ground boosting fertility, increasing yields, and fighting climate change at the same time.

Beyond its environmental impact, carbon farming is unlocking new economic opportunities through participation in carbon markets. By improving soil health and increasing organic carbon stocks, farmers can generate verified carbon credits—assets that can be traded or sold to companies and governments committed to offsetting their emissions.

Carbon Africa 2025 will bring together the full value chain—farmers, carbon project developers, investors, certification bodies, and policymakers—to explore how Africa's agricultural sector can benefit from this rapidly growing market while delivering measurable climate impact.

Join farmers, scientists, community leaders, and policymakers as we:

- Regenerate degraded land with low-cost, nature-based solutions
- Reward farmers for restoring soil organic carbon
- Build a resilient future through knowledge, partnerships, and action
- Exploring the challenges and hurdles of obtaining Carbon Credits

Looking Ahead: What Next for South African Farmers?

Working together for a low-carbon future... The climate is shifting. So is agriculture. As farmers, scientists, service providers, and policymakers, we're not just navigating change—we're creating it.

From Regenerative methods to emissions reduction tools, from practical science to profitable solutions, we need conversations that bring all the pieces together in one room—and that's what this conference aims to do. The Carbon Africa Summit 2025 is a landmark gathering for those driving the transformation of agriculture.

We are excited to invite you to an impactful conference that will provide an opportunity to exchange cutting-edge insights and real-world experiences in carbon farming, highlighting its critical role in Africa's climate change mitigation efforts.

Under the theme of Net Zero Emissions... The conference will address the urgent challenges facing agriculture—Through interactive sessions and focused discussions, we aim to identify practical, forward-thinking solutions that strengthen the sector's resilience in the face of a changing climate. Your participation is vital. By contributing your perspective, you'll help shape innovative and sustainable pathways for the future of agriculture in SA. Together, we can drive meaningful progress toward a low-carbon, climate-resilient agricultural system.

"Every handful of healthy soil is a powerful tool in the fight against climate change."

We look forward to welcoming you to this important conversation. We invite you to join us—for a future-focused event that doesn't just talk about change, but makes it happen. Let's collaborate, share knowledge, and take action for a more sustainable future.

Looking forward to seeing you at the conference! Empire Events!
